PREFACE.

THE first Norris of whom we have a record as coming to America is one John Norris who, at the age of 18, emigrated, in 1635, "to the Barmoodes or Somer Islands, imbarqued in the Truelove de London." The fact that he had as fellow passengers on this voyage at least three young men who found their way to New England as early as 1643 suggests that he may have gone there with them, and have been the "Mr. John Norris" with whose conveyances of "400 acors of land and of the 242 acors of the 4000 acors graunted to Roxbury" the General Court of Election, held at Boston, the 23d of the 3 mo. 1655,* expressed itself as "being satisfied."

Mr. Leonard A. Morrison, author of "The Norris Family of America," says the tradition in regard to the origin of Nicholas Norris is that "he was of England extraction, being a descendant of one of the English settlers in Ireland, where he was born," and "that he was a stowaway in an immigrant ship and arrived in America when fourteen years of age."

Inasmuch as Nicholas Norris named his oldest daughter, Sarah, after his wife, and his second oldest son, Moses, after his father-in-law, it is more than probable that his oldest son, John, was named after his own father, which—no record having been found

* The only other Norrises known to have been in America at this time were the Rev. Edward Norrice (1), his son Edward (2) and, according to Savage, the latter's sister Mary who united with the Church of Roxbury in 1639 or 1640. Edward Norrice (1) was born in England in 1579 and in 1640 was a resident of Salem, Mass., at which time he had wife, Eleanor. His son, Edward (2), was born in 1615 and married Dorothy Johnson by whom he had a daughter Elizabeth and a son Edward (3), bapt. Oct. 18, 1657. The fact that the above "Mr. John Norris" owned land granted to Roxbury indicates that he and Mary Norrice of Roxbury might have been members of the same family, but inasmuch as this John was doubtless over twenty-one in 1655 it is improbable that he was the son of Edward (2), and as neither he nor Mary are mentioned in the will of Edward (1), drawn 1657 and proved 1660, I am led to conclude that, provided they did not die before Edward (1), they must have belonged to a different family, in which event they may have been husband and wife.

PREFACE.

of Nicholas' coming to America—makes it possible that Nicholas' father and the first above John were one and the same person.

The progenitor of the Norris family appears to have been one "Alain Norreys," who was settled at Sutton, England, long before the time of Henry III. His descendant, William Norreys of Sutton, was the ancestor of Sir Henry Norreys who acquired in 1311, by marriage with Joan, daughter of Sir Henry Molyneux, the Manor of Speke, in Lancashire. This Sir Henry Norreys had a descendant, Thomas Norreys of Speke, whose son, Nicholas Norreys, Esq., of Tarleton, was father of Nicholas Norreys of Tarleton whose son Nicholas Norreys of the same place was father of Nicholas Norreys of Middleworth, whose son, Nicholas Norreys of Middleworth was father of Henry Norris who, it is thought, may have been no very distant relative of the Nicholas Norris with whom this history commences.

My excuse for introducing this data is that some one may wish to extend the line to the immigrant's mother country, in which event the above information will not come amiss. I doubt, however, if any amount of searching would produce a better man to head the descent than our Nicholas of Hampton, N. H., of whom enough is known to warrant the statement that he was considerably above mediocrity. As son-in-law of Selectman Moses Coxe, and father-in-law of Ruth Folsom—granddaughter of Selectman John Folsom, Judge Henry Robey and Mary Gilman, a member of that family whom Bell's "History of Exeter" states "stood at the head of everything that constitutes respectability"—Nicholas Norris was related to many of the most prominent families of the community, and with them did what he could toward the development of the youthful colony in which he settled. That his descendants have always been proud of the surname is evidenced by the frequency with which it appears among the posterity of the daughters of the family, either as a first or middle name, and it is hoped that the present possessors will transmit it as untarnished as they received it.

"A good name," says the Bible, "is rather to be chosen than great riches." An inheritance of money may be lost and regained, but an inheritance of character once lost can never be regained. To come of a family which for generations has held the respect of its fellow men, to know that one's father, grandfather, and great-grandfather, and his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather before him, were generous-hearted, law-abiding, country-loving citizens who stood for right for right's sake, and accepted the buffets and rewards of life with equal fortitude—this is a birthright worth having. Education, association and observation, frequently enable one to rise above the environment in which one is born, but such desirable traits as are cultivated in this way rarely extend below the surface. A brass watch case can be made to resemble gold but the interior remains unchanged. Breed is stronger than pastures, and if we would have “nice” children, we must see to it that we are nice ourselves.

Of the many persons who have been kind enough to assist me by furnishing information of themselves or others, special thanks are due to Miss Amy Trefren (221), to whom I am indebted for the entire record of the descendants of Josiah Norris (14); to Mrs. Charles Henrotin (163) and her sister Mrs. A. Belcham Keyes (168), for the record of the descendants of Captain William Norris (41); to Mrs. James R. King (179) and Mrs. Hall L. Davis (183), for most of the Perry history; to Mr. John E. Lougee (138) and Mr. Richard G. Dearborn (195), for many miscellaneous facts of importance, as well as to Mrs. Lucinda L. Dyer, Mrs. Elizabeth P. Littlefield and Mrs. George A. Mills, whose knowledge of the early Limerick families enabled me to get in touch with many of the persons just mentioned.

The desire to ascertain more of my ancestry was created by the mortification I experienced about three years ago in having to acknowledge to a friend that I knew nothing of my father's parentage beyond the fact that his mother's maiden name was Olive Hill, and with this desire came a determination to enlighten myself in order that my son might be spared a similar embarrassment. A letter to one of my father's old friends brought the information that “he was born in Limerick, I think,” and that his mother “came into the Congregational Church in early life.” The minister of the Congregational church at Limerick conveyed a letter to Mrs. Dyer whom I presume he knew was descended from the early Hills of Limerick. She told me that my father was the son of Capt. Ezra Norris of Limerick, and gave me the address of Mr. Trefren, whose mother, she said, was of the same family. From Mr. Trefren I learned that his mother was the daughter of Josiah Norris who was born in Exeter in 1773 and “had brothers who lived in Limerick.” From another source I learned that “Josiah had a sister who married Robert Cole of Limerick,” whose “only descendant is a grandson, Richard Dearborn, living in Cumberland Mills, Me.” From him I learned that his grandmother was Lydia Norris and that “she was born in Rochester, N. H., in 1789.” Someone else told me that “one of Ezra Norris’ sisters married a Sanborn.” One of my letters to the various Sanborns of New England was handed to Mr. Lougee, of Parsonsfield, who advised me that his maternal grandmother was Sarah Norris, “daughter of Jonathan Norris of Limerick,” and that “she had a brother Josiah, a brother William, who was a sea captain, and a brother Ezra,” besides “one sister who married Robert Cole.” This reduced the problem to finding a Jonathan Norris who had a son Josiah, born in Exeter in 1773, and a daughter Lydia, born in Rochester in 1789, and was himself later of Limerick.

PREFACE.

It sounds very easy, but the acquiring of these facts consumed a full year, as hardly one letter out of fifty brought a new clue, and even then the work was but just commenced. The loss by fire of the Limerick Church Records and that by theft of the first volume of the Town Records was a serious handicap, but a personal trip through the States of Maine and New Hampshire enabled me to gather sufficient data to start an expert genealogist on the work of extending the line backward while I occupied myself on the collateral branches. That mistakes will appear goes without saying, but it is thought that most of those which are found will be in the records of the descendants, rather than of the ancestry, of the children of Lieut. Jonathan Norris, as the latter were compiled mainly from town, county and state records, while the former were obtained largely from the descendants themselves, some of whom probably had to depend on their memory for many of the dates of births, marriages, deaths, etc.

In conclusion, I would suggest that the present generation exercise greater judgment in naming their children. The ordinary Christian names of John, James, William, etc., furnish no clue whatever to one’s antecedents, while the surname of one’s mother or grandmother, used as a first or middle name, is always a help to identification. I would also call attention to the importance of including in all wills, deeds, and other public documents, sufficient descriptive matter to indicate the parentage and place of residence of everyone named.

Hoping that this history will meet the reasonable expectation of all who have assisted in its compilation, and that its perusal by each succeeding generation will act as an incentive not only to make themselves worthy of their forefathers, but to excel them according to the opportunities afforded by advancing civilization, it is committed to them with the injunction that henceforth each family maintain a careful record of everything that is likely to prove of interest to the future historian.

H. M. NORRIS.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, July 4, 1894.

PUBLISHERS' NOTE

The Publishers call attention to the unusual use of numbers in this genealogy. In practically all indices the numbers refer to pages of the book. This often necessitates the reading of a whole page to find the desired item, and if the examination is hastily made, a second or even a third reading may be required. In consulting printed genealogies in connection with this work, Mr. Norris experienced this annoyance and loss of time, and the present system was devised by him to minimize this difficulty.

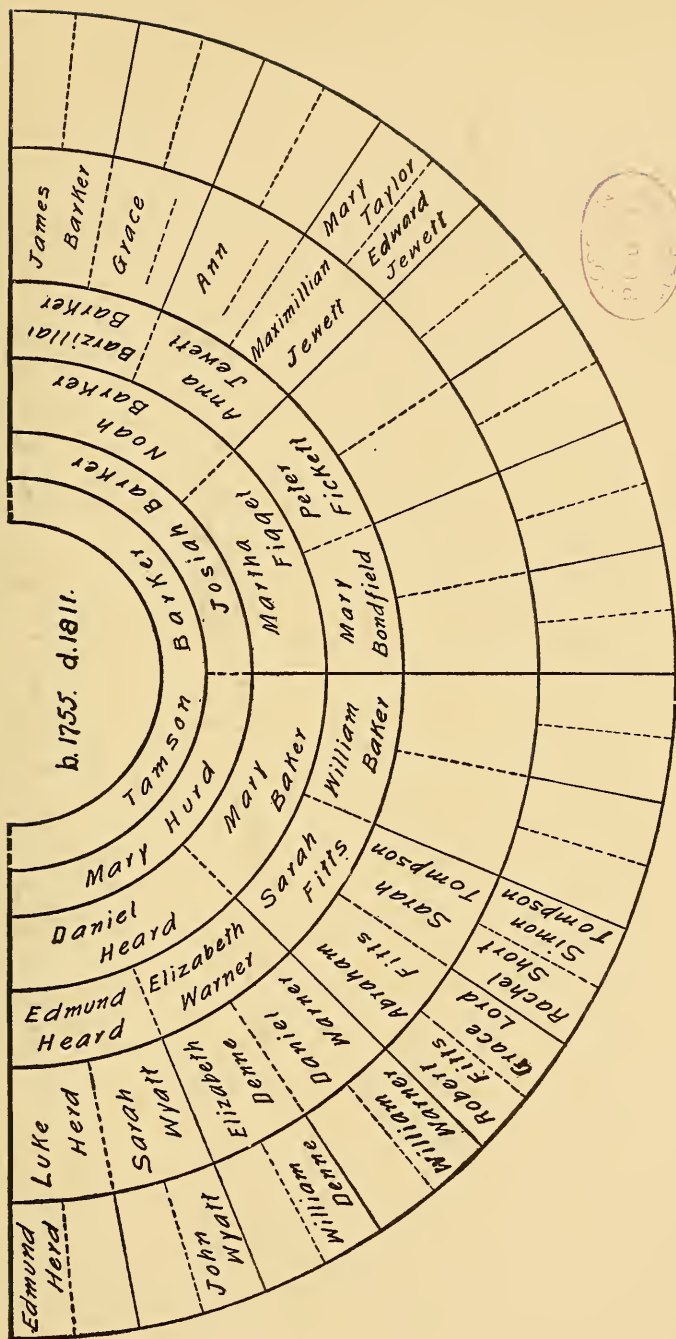

The numbers in the index refer to sections in which the names indexed are treated, these sections being consecutively numbered from the beginning of the book. The pages of the book are not numbered, the numerals at the top of each page simply indicating the sections found on that page. In the third section of this book we find the following: "3. SERGEANT JONATHAN NORRIS (Moses 2, Nicholas 1)."

Here the names in italics show the ancestors, but the number following each name is not a generation number, but a reference to the section in which that ancestor is treated. Again, in the fifth section we find: "5. Josiah (14)."

Here Josiah appears in proper order among his father's children. The number after the name indicates that in section 14 Josiah is treated in detail as the head of a family. Such is the system which for purposes of convenient reference is one of the simplest ever devised.

ANCESTRY OF TAMESIN BARKER.

ANCESTRY AND DESCENDANTS OF
LIEUTENDENT JONATHAN AND TAMESIN
(BARKER) NORRIS

OF MAINE

1. NICHOLAS NORRIS is thought to have been born about 1640, but whether in this country or elsewhere is unknown, as the earliest record thus far found of him is dated "ye 11th. mo. 21st. day, 1663" (Jan. 21, 1664) at which time he married Sarah, dau. of Moses and Alice Coxe of Hampton, N. H. On Sept. 29, 1666, he deeded away his "house lott, three acres more or less, with my dwelling-house being and standing upon ye same," together with six acres of "planting land in ye north field," and removed to Exeter, N. H., where in the following year he took the oath of allegiance. In 1676 he served as a soldier in King Philip's war. In 1681, 100 acres of land were laid out to him by the town of Exeter. In 1690 he desired the jurisdiction of Massachusetts. Aug. 3 to Aug. 31, 1696, he was a soldier in garrison under Kinsley Hall. In 1698 he was granted 3 acres; in 1705, 20 acres; and in 1720-21, 10 acres, the last on the "north side of a masteway leading from Col. Hilton's to Pawtuckawaye Mills." His house stood near Meeting-house hill in Exeter Village. In 1725 he was granted 30 additional acres which is the last reference to him found upon any record. It is probable that he died soon after this date. Of his nine children, Sarah, Sarah, John, Moses, Jonathan, Abigail, Sarah, James and Elizabeth, only one other besides the following is known to have left descendants.

2. MOSES NORRIS (Nicholas 1) was born at Exeter, N. H., Aug. 14, 1670, where he married, March 4, 1692, Ruth, dau. of Samuel and Mary (Roby) Folsom of Exeter. Her maternal grandfather, Henry Roby,* whose wife was Ruth —, was b. at Castle Dunnington, Eng., Feb. 12, 1618–19, and came to Am. in 1639, while her paternal grandfather, John (son of Adam) Folsom, who mar. Mary, dau. of Edward and Mary (Clark) Gilman of Exeter, was b. at Hingham, Eng., in 1617, and came to Am. in 1638.

Moses Norris served as a soldier from Aug. 31 to Sept. 28, 1696. Feb. 3, 1698, 30 acres were laid out to him by the town of Exeter. April 9, 1698 he received from his father 16 acres "on the road to Hampton Farms" and on the same date was deeded land by his father-in-law, Samuel Folsom. In 1706 the town made him a second grant of 50 acres. Feb. 2, 1720–21, "for fatherly love and affection" he deeded land to his children, Samuel, John, Moses, Nicholas, Joseph, Jonathan, James and Ruth, they to come into possession "after ye decease of me and my present wife, Ruth Norris." The last record of him appears in 1725 when the town granted him 60 additional acres.

3. SERGEANT JONATHAN NORRIS (Moses 2, Nicholas 1) was born at Exeter, N. H., in 1699 or 1700. He married, before Feb. 23, 1738, Sarah, bapt. Jan. 1, 1716, dau. of Benjamin, b. 1666, and Sarah (Partridge) Cram of Hampton, N. H. Her grandfather, Benjamin Cram, who was b. abt. 1635 and mar. Nov. 28, 1662, Argentine, dau. of Giles and Alice Cromwell of Newbury, Mass., 1637, was son of John, b. 1607, and Lydia (Swain?) Cram of Boston, 1637, and the grandson of Burkart and Barbuary Cram of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Eng. Her maternal grandfather, John Partridge of Portsmouth, N. H., was b. abt. 1639 and married Dec. 11, 1660, Mary, b. 1634, dau. of Capt. Reginald† and Joanna

* Henry Roby was a signer of the combination, a selectman, a member of the council, and for many years a Judge of the Court of Sessions before which the Rev. Joshua Moody was tried in 1684 for refusing to administer to Governor Cranfield the Lord's Supper in the form set forth in the book of common prayer. He was also a standing juror in the trials of Mason against Richard Waldon and sundry other persons in New Hampshire for holding lands which he claimed as proprietor of the province.

† Reginald Fernald, b. Bristol, Eng., 1603, was a surgeon in the English Navy. He came to Kittery with the company of Captain Mason and Sir Ferdinando Gorges in 1630 but soon after removed to Portsmouth where he became one of the leading men of the colony. He is said to have been the first "Physician and Surgeon" among the New Hampshire settlers. He was town (Warbruton) Fernald of Kittery, Me., 1630. He was bro. of Lieut. Governor William Partridge of New Hampshire, son of William and Ann Partridge of Salisbury, Mass., and grandson of John Partridge of Olney, Bucks Co., Eng., who was b. abt. 1589.

Mr. Norris received by deed from his father, Feb. 2, 1720-21, several acres of land and a portion of a sawmill at Petuckaway, now West Epping, N. H., which he sold, June 10, 1741, to his brother James. In 1745 he served as a soldier in the siege of Louisburg, Cape Breton Island, and in 1755 as Sergeant under General William Johnson in the expedition against Crown Point. His home was at Exeter where he owned large tracts of land, conducted a sawmill and gristmill, and dealt extensively in real estate. He died between March 19, 1768, when his will was drawn, and Dec. 27, 1769, when it was proved. In it he names children: Rachel, Joseph Partridge, Jonathan, Sarah, Benjamin, James and Samuel.

4. LIEUTENANT JONATHAN NORRIS (Jonathan 3, Moses 2, Nicholas 1) was born at Exeter, N. H., Sept. 11, 1749. He married, abt. 1772, Thomasine Barker, dau. of Josiah and Mary (Hurd) Barker of Exeter. She was b. in 1755, as she was "of 45 and upwards" on Dec. 31, 1800, and "Died March 13, 1811, Aged 55 yrs." Her grandfather, Noah Barker * (3), b. 1688, d. bef. 1749, of Stratham, N. H., who mar. at Ipswich, Mass., in 1715, Martha Figget, b. 1696, dau. of Peter and Mary (Bondfield) Ficket of Marblehead, Mass., was son of Brazillai Barker (2), b. abt. 1638, d. 1694, of Rowley, Mass., whose wife, Anna Jewett, b. 1644, was dau. of Maximilian and Ann Jewett†

clerk in 1631, of the Grand Jury in 1643 and recorder in 1654. He was also a selectman and surveyor, and the owner of Fernald's Island in the Piscotaque river, consisting of 230 acres, which remained in the family until 1806 when it was conveyed to the Government for a navy yard.

* Noah Barker is said by the town clerk of Stratham to have held "about all the offices of trust that the people of those days could give him." He says further that "the family of Barker is now, and always have been, prominent in Stratham."

† Maximilian Jewett b. 1607, d. 1684, came to Am. with Rev. Ezekiel Rogers in 1638. He was Deacon, 1639, Freeman, 1640, and Representative, 1641-57. His father, Edward Jewett, d. 1615, of Bradford, in the West Riding of Yorkshire, Eng., whose wife was Mary, dau. of William Taylor, b. prob. abt. 1550, is said to descend from Henri de Juatt, a Knight of the First Crusade.

of Rowley, and grandson of James Barker (1), d. 1678, of Rowley, who with wife Grace came from Stragewell, Low Suffolk, Eng., in, or bef., 1640. Her grandfather, Daniel Heard (4), who mar. in 1715 or 1716, Mary Baker, b. 1695, dau. of William Baker, b. abt. 1655, d. 1743, of Ipswich, whose wife, Sarah Fitts, b. 1661, d. 1722, was dau. of Abraham and Sarah (Tompson) Fitts * of Ipswich, was descended from Edmund Heard (3), b. 1646-47, d. 1713, of Ipswich, who mar. in 1672, Elizabeth Warner, b. 1648, d. 1724, dau. of Daniel Warner, † of Ipswich, whose wife, Elizabeth, d. 1659, was dau. of William Denne who was in Am. in 1638; Luke Heard (2), b. abt. 1617, d. 1647, of Newbury, 1638, whose wife was Sarah, dau of John Wyatt, d. 1665, who came from Assington, Suffolk, Eng., and was in Ipswich in 1638; and from Edmund Heard (1) who died at Claxton, Eng., in 1626.

Mr Norris was executor of his father's will by which he received one-half of his real estate and one-half of his sawmill and gristmill. He resided at Exeter, where, on May 3, 1774, he was appointed guardian for his minor brothers, Samuel and James. Sept. 20, 1776, he was an Ensign in Capt. Daniel Gordan's company, raised to reinforce the continental army at New York. From Sept. 8 to Oct. 29, 1777, he was 2d Lieut. in Capt. Zebulon Gilman's company, Col. Stephen Evans' regiment. June 11, 1778, he bought 200 acres of land at "a place called Massebechek, Mass.," and on the 19th of December following he sold the land left him by his father and removed to Wakefield, N. H., where, in 1779, he was appointed "Field Driver." His name appears next under date of March 5, 1782 as "Lieut. Jona. Norris, Auditor" and on April 22 of the same year as "Lieut. Jona. Norris, Moderator and Juryman." July 3, 1783, "Jonathan Norris and Tamesin, wife, of Wakefield, husbandman," sold 260 acres of land in Wakefield. On Sept. 10, 1783 he is referred to as "Jonathan Norris of Wakefield, yeoman, executor will of Jonathan Norris of Exeter." Feb. 20, 1784, "Jonathan Norace of Wakefield" bought land at Norway Plain in Rochester, N. H. Jan. 23, 1790, "Jonathan Norris of Rochester, Gentleman, and Tamesin, wife," sold land in Rochester and on the same date bought land in Lebanon, Me., where he lived until about May, 1792, when he removed to Francisborough, now Cornish, Me. Jan. 7, 1793, "Jonathan Norris of Francisborough" bought a sawmill and dam and 20 acres of land in Limington, Me., a half interest in which he sold, Aug. 17, 1798, to Ebenezer Peabody of Gorham. Aug. 7, 1800, "Jonathan Norris of Limington" was drawn "Petti Juryman to the Court of Common Pleas to be holden at Waterborough the fourth Tuesday of August," soon after which he removed to the neighboring town of Limerick where he lived on a 100-acre farm bought of Benjamin Staples. December, 1812, "Mr. Jonathan Norris of this place," (Limerick) registered his intentions to marry "Mrs. Joanna Lougee of Parsonsfield," certificate for which was "granted 1813." She was the widow of Deacon Gilman Lougee of Parsonsfield, to which town Jonathan Norris removed before 1820 and where he "Died March 16, 1826, Aged 76." His widow, who was formerly Joanna Smith of Brentwood, N. H., died about 1831. He is described as having been "a little small man with lots of life in him," and as having been possessed "of a good education," "much innate brightness" and "a fondness for all kinds of sports." One of his sons is said to have been 6 ft. 7 in. in height.

* Abraham Fitts, d. 1692 was son of Robert Fitts, d. 1665, of Salisbury, who came to Am. in 1635 and married Grace Lord, d. 1684, while his wife, Sarah Tompson, d. 1664, was the dau. of Simon Tompson, b. abt. 1608, d. 1676, of Ipswich, 1636, whose wife, Rachel, was a sister of Henry Short who came to Am. in 1634.

† Daniel Warner, b. abt. 1618, d. 1688, was son of William Warner who, with his three children, "came out of England in ye year 1637" and settled at Ipswich, Mass.

* She was the widow of William C. Beck, son of the wealthy Paul Beck, Jr., of Phila., Pa., and the mother of William H. Beck, U. S. Consul at Florence, Italy. She was flower girl at the marriage of Jerome Bonaparte to Miss Patterson of Baltimore, of whom she was ever afterward an intimate friend, as evidenced by a ring given her by Madame Bonaparte in which are engraved the words: "Je t'aimerai toujours." Two of her maternal grandfather's brothers were among the patriots who pledged their "lives, fortunes and most sacred honor," by signing the famous Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, at Charlotte, N. C., May 20, 1775, which contained the substance of all that is in the similar document adopted by Congress the following year.

dau. of Capt. Benjamin and Azubua (Hildridge) Dowd of Middletown, Conn., whose parents were David and Mary (Cornwall) Dowd* of Middletown, and Richard and — (—) Hildridge † of Middletown; son of Ebenezer Bunnell (4) of Cheshire, Conn., b. May 21, 1713, d. March 14, 1786, and his wife, Lydia Clark, 1718–1802, dau. of Stephen and Lydia (Hotchkiss) Clark of Cheshire, whose parents were Ebenezer and Sarah (Peck‡) Clark of — and John and Mary (Chatterton) Hotchkiss § of Wallingford, Conn.; son of Ensign Nathaniel Bunnell (3) of Wallingford, b. May, 1686, d. May 4, 1732, and his wife, Desire Peck, 1687–1724, dau. of Benjamin and Mary (Sperry) Peck of New Haven, whose parents were Henry and Joan Peck of New Haven, and Richard and — Sperry of New Haven; son of Benjamin Bunnell (2) of New Haven, b. abt. 1636, d. 1696, and his wife, Rebecca Mallory, dau. of Peter and Mary Mallory of New Haven, 1644; son of William Bunnell (1), b. prob. abt. 1617, who, with his wife, Ann, and her parents, Benjamin and Ann Wilmot, is said to have come to New Haven from London, Eng., about 1638.

John Hurd Norris was educated at the Phillips Limerick Academy. After a course of study in the law office of Robert B. Coverly, Esq., he was, on the 22d of April, 1844, admitted to practice as an attorney; soon after which date he removed to Hampden, Me., and thence to Newport, Me., where he lived until ill-health induced him, in 1850, to abandon law and enter into partnership with Mark Fisher of Trenton, N. J., for the manufacture of railroad supplies together with the well-known "Eagle Anvil" which is still made under the firm name of "Fisher & Norris." They are said to have furnished all the anvils used by the Union Army during the war.

"He impressed me," says my cousin, Rufus W. Bunnell of Stratford, Conn., "as a gentleman of great integrity, of a lovable disposition, a truly noble man with a Scotch decision of character: in short, a person one could always know meant exactly what he said, and although not strictly to be measured by the standard of church attendance, a good man, honorable and true in all things, desiring to be met in the same spirit," He had a "fine mind" and was "a lover of good books and conversation. ber his reading aloud to me some of the best poems of Burns and his keen enjoyment on reciting others." He "was a man of active, progressive character that led him—although genial in his manners—to be prompt, quick, and therefore naturally exacting in the management of his business, but as far as I could see he got on exceedingly well with his workmen, who always considered him a whole-souled employer. I found him so ready to look into new ways of doing things that I have no doubt were he now living, he would be fully abreast of what has since come about in the manufacturing world. I, as his architect in the building of his house, noticed his constant questionings as to the very best methods of construction."

His residence, which he built on the banks of the Delaware in 1869, is one of the handsomest in Trenton, with its four acres of well-kept grounds, set off by numerous flower beds, sparkling brooks and fine old trees some of which witnessed the defeat of the Hessians in 1776, but his enjoyment of the place was of short duration, as he died of pneumonia March 15, 1872, after returning from a six months' visit in Colorado. Mr. Norris' widow married at Trenton, July 18, 1878, as his second wife, George Sumner Grosvenor, b. Nov. 25, 1831, son of David Rufus and Irana Gallond (Goddard) Grosvenor of Trenton. He graduated from Amherst College in the class of 1858, at whose Commencement he delivered the Latin Salutatory address, and the following year was appointed Principal of the Trenton Academy, which position he held until 1873, when he took up the practice of law. Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor resided until about 1898 in the old Norris homestead since which time they have visited nearly every country of the world. Although somewhat retiring in disposition and possessed of every attribute of domesticity Mrs. Grosvenor is very fond of society and participates in all the gayeties of the season. When in America she usually stops with her daughter, Mrs. Fisk.

Children, surnamed Norris.

198. FANNIE BUNNELL (236), b. June 24, 1861, m. William I. Fisk.

199. MARIA STERLING, b. Feb. 8, 1864, m. at Trenton, N. J., July 23, 1897, Dr. Edmund Tilghman Canby, b. May 21, 1863, son of Samuel and Rebecca Tilghman (Johnson) Canby of Wilmington, Del. They live at Geneva, Switzerland, where Dr. Canby is practicing as a specialist on the eye and ear. Mrs. Canby is an unusually bright woman and has always been much sought after by society. They have no children.

200. HENRY McCOY (239), b. Jan. 21, 1868, m. Sarah Boyd Nixon.

201. HENRY PARKER NORRIS (Mark 69, Josiah 14, Jonathan 4) was born at Limerick, Me., in Nov., 1857. He mar. at Penobscot, Me., in 1878, Anna Mitchell, b. Ellsworth, Me., 1859. Her father, Thomas Mitchell, b. Dedham, Me., was son of John Mitchell, b. in Ireland, and his wife, Mary Condon, b. Brookville, Me., while her mother, Caroline Smith, b. Brookville, was the dau. of Christiana Haslem, b. Waltham, Me.

As this Mr. Norris and his children are the only known descendants of Lieut. Jonathan Norris who bear the surname of Norris outside of family No. 239, it is regrettable that I cannot present a more complete record of his family, particularly since it is such a large one, but as he has replied to none of my letters my information is necessarily limited to such facts as I have been able to gather from other sources. He resides at Bucksport, Me.

Children, surnamed Norris.

224. ELLEN MARTIN (Sarah Ellen 162, William 41, Jonathan 4) was born at Portland, Me., July 6, 1847. She married at Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30, 1869, Charles, son of Dr. Joseph Fortuna and Adèle (Kinson) Henrotin of Brussels, Belgium, where he was b. April 15, 1843. His grandparents were Dr. Clement and Sophie (Rossion) Henrotin of Tellien; and François and Sophie (Brice) Kinson of Tournai. Mr. Charles Henrotin came to America with his parents in 1848. On completing his education, which was commenced in Chicago and finished in Belgium, he entered, in 1860, the employ of The Merchants' Loan and Trust Company Bank, Chicago, of which he was made cashier in 1872. In 1876 he was appointed Consul for Belgium and Turkey from which governments he was later the recipient for valuable service of six "Orders," and in 1891 he was appointed Consul General for Turkey. He was one of the Founders of The Chicago Stock Exchange—of which he was the first, second and third President—and was largely interested in the erection of the Chicago Opera House Building, as well as in the promotion of the English and American Syndicates which took over the Chicago Breweries and Union Stock Yards. At the World's Columbian Exposition Mr. Henrotin was Chairman of the Committee on Ceremonies and Dean of the Consular Corps. He also served as one of its directors, in which capacity he is connected with many literary and benevolent associations. He is a member of the Chicago Club, Bankers' Club, New York and Chicago Stock Exchanges, and of the Chicago Board of Trade. He has been engaged since 1877 in the General Brokerage business and was recently appointed Receiver of the Chicago Electric Traction Company.

Mrs. Henrotin is equally prominent, being a woman of unusual attainment. Her services during the Columbian Exposition, as Juror for Belgium and as Vice-President of the women's branch of the World's Congress Auxiliaries of which she became acting President, were recognized by the Queen of Belgium with a specially engraved, signed etching, and by the Sultan of Turkey with the Order of The Chafkat—the highest grade given to foreign women. From 1894 to 1898, she was twice President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and in 1900 rendered valuable aid in establishing in Chicago the first Juvenile Court, of which she is still an enthusiastic supporter. As President of the Illinois branch of the Consumers League, Mrs. Henrotin is a powerful enemy to the sweat-shop and its attending evils. For her services to France in connection with the Alliance Française and other movements, in which her command of the French language enabled her to be most useful, she was decorated by the French Republic in 1899 with Les Palmes Academiques, and in 1903 she was made Officier de l'Instruction Publique; while her knowledge of schools and school systems led to her appointment by the Belgium Government as a member of the International Jury on Education at the recent St. Louis Exposition. Mrs. Henrotin is also an authority on all questions of Labor and Domestic Science, as evidenced by her many papers on these subjects, and as a speaker and polished parliamentarian, few women surpass her. These accomplishments, combined with social charm, a magnetic personality and an unusual amount of tact, will cause her name to live as one of the women of the twentieth century.

Children, surnamed Henrotin.

He came to Salem, Mass., in 1637 and was son of John Fisk (7) of St. James, South Elmham, Norfolk, Eng., d. 1633, whose wife Anne, dau. of Robert Lantersee, died while on her way to New England in 1637; son of William Fisk (6) of St. James, b. 1566, d. 1623, whose wife was Anna, dau. of Walter Anstye of Tibbenham, Long Row, in Norfolk; son of Robert Fisk (5) of Broad Gates, Laxfield, near Framlingham, and St. James, b. abt. 1525, d. 1600, whose wife was Mrs. Sybil (Gould) Barber; son of Simon Fisk (4) of Laxfield, d. 1505; son of Simon Fisk (3) of Laxfield, d. 1538, whose wife was Elizabeth —; son of William Fisk (2) of Laxfield, d. abt. 1504, whose wife was Joan Lynne of Norfolk; son of Lord Symond Fisk (1), Lord of the Manor of Stadhaugh, Parish of Laxfield, County of Suffolk, Eng., d. 1464, whose wife was Susannah Smyth. Helen Imlay, wife of Pliny Fisk (14), was the dau. of William Imlay of Allentown, Pa., whose wife was Ann, dau. of Samuel and Patience (Cubberly) Gordon.* His father, John Imlay, whose wife was Elizabeth, dau. of James and Mary (Montgomery) Debow, was the son of Johnson Imlay, whose wife was Isabella, dau. of — Montgomery and his wife Jane, dau. of William and Isabel (Burnet) Montgomery of Brigend, Scotland.

Upon leaving the Troy Polytechnic, Mr. Fisk spent a year or two in his father's pottery at Trenton after which he removed to East Orange, N. J., where he established a large and profitable real estate business. His wife, to whom he attributes much of his success, is a most competent woman, both in the home and in ways of business. She is quick in perception, accurate in judgment and persistent in purpose, is a lover of good books and an accomplished pianist and organist. They live at 16th Street and Park Avenue, East Orange, N. J.

Children, surnamed Fisk.

* James Boyd Potter, 1796–1865, was son of Col. David and Sarah (Boyd) Potter of Bridgeton, whose parents, Matthew and Jane (McCreight) Potter of Scotland, and James and Mary (Blackley?) Boyd of Ireland, came to Am. from Ballyeaston, in Antrim, Ireland; while his wife, Jane Barron, was dau. of John Barron, b. 1755, who came from (Templepatrick?) Ireland about 1784, and settled at Pine Grove, Center Co., Pa., where he mar., in 1787, Susanna Ferguson, dau. of Thomas (or Henry) and Sarah (Huston) Ferguson, who came from Ireland in 1764 and settled in Mifflin Co., Pa.

† Benjamin Thompson, 1764–1814, was son of Benjamin and Phebe (Davis) Thompson of Deerfield, N. J., whose parents were Benjamin and Amy (Newcomb) Thompson and Arthur and Martha (Moore) Davis. Benjamin Thompson (1) b. 1705 was undoubtedly descended from Thomas Thompson who came to New Jersey from Dublin, Ireland, in 1677. For the ancestry of Amy Newcomb and Arthur Davis, see Appendix X and XI respectively.

‡ Mary Shaw, 1740–1825, wife of Daniel Elmer (5), 1741–75, whose ancestry is given at Appendix XII, was the dau. of Carl Shaw (3), son of Edmund (2), son of Edmund (1) who died in Salem Co., N. J., in 1705 or 1706.

in Cheshire, Eng., and settled in Salem, now Cumberland Co., N. J.

Mrs. Norris' mother, Ellen Madaleine Scull (12), b. July 31, 1851, d. 19 , was descended from Alfred Penrose Scull (11), b. June 16, 1824, d. May 18, 1878, wholesale commission merchant of Phila., Pa., with residence at Phoenixville, Pa., whose wife, Mary James Reeves, was the dau. of David Reeves,* founder of the Phoenix Iron Co., and his wife, Clara Hall James, dau. of Samuel Lawrence and Mary (Hall†) James of Supaunee Manor, Salem Co., N. J., and granddaughter of James and Abigail (Lawrence) James of Woodstown, N. J., the ancestry of whom appears under the father of Gideon Scull (10), b. Oct. 22, 1790, d. May 29, 1859, banker of Phila., Pa., whose wife, Lydia Ann Rowan, was dau. of Dr. John and Lydia Ann (Tutness, Tuckness or Lutness) Rowan of Salem, N. J., and granddau. of John and Margaret (Sharp‡) Rowan of Phila.; Gideon Scull (9), b. 27, 4 mo., 1756, d. 20, 4 mo., 1825, merchant of Sculltown, N. J.,

* David Reeves, 1793-1871, was son of Thomas and Kezia (Brown) Reeves of Gloucester Co., N. J., and grandson of Thomas Reeves, 1698-1782, of Deptford, Gloucester Co., N. J. For his mother's ancestry see Appendix XIII.

† Mary Hall's father, Major Edward Hall (5), b. 1740, whose third wife was Ann, dau. of the renowned Lydia Darrah of Revolutionary fame, was descended from William Hall (4), b. 1701, of Salem, N. J., whose wife, Elizabeth, was granddau. of John and Martha (Graffs) Smith who came to Am. in 1675 and purchased 2,000 acres in Salem Co., N. J.; Sarah Clement (3), b. 1672, whose husband, Judge William Hall, 1616-1714, immigrated from Dublin, Ireland, in 1677, and settled at Salem; James Clement (2), of Flushing, L. I., who came to Am. abt. 1670, and Sir Gregory Clement (1), of London, Eng., who, with Bradshawe, Goffe and others, sat in judgment on King Charles the First, found him guilty of treason and sentenced him "to be putt to death by the severing of his head from his body," for which he and a number of the other judges were later apprehended, tried and condemned to death. He was drawn, quartered and beheaded, his property confiscated and his family banished to America. History says that he was of a knightly family of Kent.

‡ Margaret Sharp's father, Judge Isaac Sharp, d. 1735, of Sharpstown, N. J., whose wife was Margaret Brathwaite of Salem, N. J., came to Am. in 1702. He owned, besides other property, over a fortieth part of all East Jersey and some 1,050 acres in Gloucester Co., N. J., which he called "Rush Hall." His father, Anthony Sharp of Tilbury, Eng., inherited the great landed estate of the family in the County of Gloucester, near the city of Bristol, and also owned a large county seat called "Roundwood," near Mount Mellick, Queens Co., Ireland.

whose wife, Sarah James, was dau. of James James*, of Phila., Woodstown and Sculltown, and his wife, Abigail Lawrence†, dau. of Samuel and Mary (Hicks) Lawrence of Black Stump, L. I.; Gideon Scull (8), b. 16, 4 mo., 1722, d. 6, 12 mo., 1776, of Great Egg Harbor, N. J., whose wife, Judith, was dau. of James Bellangee‡, and his wife, Margary Smith, granddau. of Major Richard and Sarah (Folger) Smith of Smithtown, L. I.; John Scull (7), b. 1666, d. 1748, whaler, of Great Egg Harbor, whose wife was Mary Somers of Somers Point, N. J.; Pieter Jansen Scholl (6), b. abt. 1635, d. bef. 1698, who came from The Hague, Holland, and settled on Long Island, where he married, in 1661, Grietje, dau. of Sergt. David Provoost§, and his wife, Margaretta, dau. of Gillis Jansen and Barbara (Schut) Verbrugge of Holland. His father, John Scull (5), b. abt. 1608, of the parish of Brickworth, Wiltshire, Eng., whose wife was Annetji —, was son of John Scull (4), of Brickworth, whose wife was Alice —; son of John Scull (3), will dated 1610, whose wife was Alice —; son of John Scull (2), b. abt. 1535, of the parish of Bitton, Gloucestershire, whose wife was a dau. of Gyles Dymmoke of Uley, Gloucestershire; son of John Scull (1), of Bitton, a descendant of Sir John Skwl of Brecknockshire, one of Bernard Newmarch's Twelve Knights from whom he had the Manors of Bolgold and Cray, Brecknockshire.

* James James, b. 1729, was son of Thomas James, who may have descended from Thomas James (3), James James (2) and Howel James (1) of Pennsylvania, 1684, although I think it will be found that he was of the New England branch.

† Abigail Lawrence, b. 1737, was descended from Rurik, the reputed founder of the Russian monarchy; Charles II, Emperor of the Romans; Henry I, King of Germany, 919-936; as well as from 9 Kings of Scotland, 14 Kings of England and 17 Kings of France. See Appendix XIV and XV.

‡ See Appendix XVI for the ancestry of James Bellangee.

§ Sergt. David Provoost, 1608-57, came to New Amsterdam from Holland in 1624. He was Commissary of Provisions and Tobacco Inspector of the Dutch West India Co., in 1640. In 1642 he was placed in charge of Fort Good Hope at Hartford, Conn., where the Dutch maintained against the English a separate and independent Government. In 1647 he returned to New Amsterdam where he appears as schoolmaster, notary, attorney, counsellor, commissioner, and commander of military forces. He was also a member of the Governor's Council and in 1655 was made High Sheriff of Breckelen which included the three Dutch towns of Breckelen, Amersfoort and Midwout.

Upon leaving school at Lawrenceville, N. J., Mr. Norris served an apprenticeship with Bement, Miles & Co., machine tool builders, Phila., Pa., after which he spent a year at draughting with the Phoenix Iron Co., of Trenton, N. J., when he entered the engineering course at Sibley College, Cornell University. From 1891 to 1894 he worked as draughtsman for the Ferracute Machine Co., Bridgeton, N. J., the Brown & Sharpe Mfg. Co., Providence, R. I., and the Pond Machine Tool Co., Plainfield, N. J. From 1894 to 1896 he was superintendent and engineer of the Appleton Mfg. Co., and the Riehle Bros. Testing Mach. Co., both of Philadelphia, Pa., when he became general manager of the Campbell & Zell Co., of Baltimore, Md. In May, 1897, he removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, where he is engineer, works manager, and part owner of The Bickford Drill and Tool Co. Mr. Norris is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity, The New England Society, The Ohio Society of Sons of the Revolution, The Ohio Society of the Sons of Colonial Wars, the Ohio Commandery of the Loyal Legion, the Franklin Institute, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Engineers' Club of Philadelphia, as well as of a number of Cincinnati clubs and other local associations. He has been a rather frequent contributor to the various engineering magazines, has taken out a number of patents and is fond of all kinds of athletic sports.

His wife, to whom thanks are due from every one interested in this history for her unselfishness in permitting the writer to devote nearly a thousand evenings to its compilation, is remarkable for her strength and energy, both physical and mental, but her nobility of character is greater than either. She is bright, high-minded, open-hearted, and guileless to a fault. It was said of her by her grandmother, Mrs. Scull, that "she does not know evil when she sees it." Although domestic in taste she is dexterous with the rifle, rod, racket, golf-club, bow and paddle; excels at cards and dancing, and is an expert swimmer and skater. She is large in stature, gracious in manner, cheerful in disposition, even-tempered, unselfish, an indomitable worker and keeps well informed in the affairs of the day. She is a member of the Cincinnati Women's Club and of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mr. and Mrs. Norris resided until April, 1905, in Cincinnati, when they removed to their present home at Glendale, Ohio.

Children, surnamed Norris.

240. BOYD NIXON, died at birth at Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 13, 1894. He is buried in the grave of his grandfather, John Hurd Norris, in Riverview Cemetery, Trenton, N. J.
241. NORMA NIXON, b. at Phila., Pa., March 12, 1895. She died of diphtheria, March 10, 1896, and is buried in the grave of her great-grandfather, Alfred Penrose Scull, in Laurel Hill Cemetery, Phila.
242. NIXON GROSVENOR, b. at Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 24, 1898. Outside of family No. 201, this young man and the writer are the only descendants of Lieut. Jonathan Norris who retain the surname of Norris. As a child he is remarkable for his very logical turn of mind, quickness to act in an emergency, fertility in invention and his straightforward, courageous disposition. He will be eligible, at the age of twenty-one, to membership in the Society of the Sons of the Revolution—through either Lieut. Jonathan Norris whom his father used as a "claim," or Col. David Potter whom his mother used in joining the Daughters of the American Revolution; as well as through his ancestors, Major Edward Hall of Salem, N. J., Capt. Israel Bunnell of Cheshire, Conn., and Jeremiah Gillpatrick of Biddeford, Me; to the Sons of the Colonial Wars—through about twenty-five of his mother's ancestors in addition to the fifty filed by his father; to the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States—through his great-uncle, Lieut. Isaac McCoy Bunnell of Trenton N. J., and to the Order of the Runnymede to which he has the remarkable number of eighteen claims, his descent from whom will be found in the sixth edition of Browning's "Americans of Royal Descent," in which is also given his descent from Charlemagne and many other early kings.

APPENDIX.

I

The records at Limerick contain the names of two Norrises I have been unable to place. One, Nathaniel Norris, certified "that on the 17th day of June, 1828, Mr. David Strout, Jr., of Limington and Miss Hannah Buttler of Limerick appeared before me and were lawfully married." The other, William G. Norris, published, Nov. 2, 1834, his intention to marry "Miss Sarah A. B. Harding of Gorham." So far as I am able to interpret the Census Record of 1790, 1800 and 1810, Lieut. Jonathan Norris had but nine children. The first gives him but one son "over sixteen;" the second gives him "1 of 16 and under 26" and "2 under 10 yrs.;" while the third gives him "1 of 16 yrs. and under 26 yrs." and "1 of 10 yrs. and under 16 yrs." Mr. Lougee (138) says: "About those two Norris men (Nathaniel and William G.) you speak of, I am sure they were the sons of Josiah Norris (14), as I have heard my mother speak of them. Josiah lived at E. Parsonsfield when his son Mark (69) was 15 years of age, and I think the older boys lived with his folks at Limerick." If this information is correct it seems odd that their names do not appear on the family record in possession of Mr. Trefren (219), unless they were children by a former wife, but Mr. Munroe Wardwell, one of Mark Norris' stepsons, says he is sure "Mark Norris was an only son and had no half-brothers. Mark's father was married but once and lived but a short distance from his son Mark," and he, Mr. Wardwell, "used to be there as much as at his mother's." Mr. Wardwell's memory has proved so accurate in other things that I am inclined to accept it in this—but then the same can be said of Mr. Lougee.

II

Rev. Samuel Todd, b. 1716-17, was the first minister of Northbury. His father, Samuel Todd of North Haven, who was doubtless son of Samuel and Mary (Bradley) Todd of that place, mar. Mary Towle, who was prob. dau. of Henry and Dorothy (Thomas) Towle of New Haven; while his wife, Mercy Evans, was dau. of "Mr." Peter Evans of Northfield, who was prob. son of John and Mary Evans of Deerfield.

III

Henry McCoy, 1761-1818, was grandson of John McCoy, d. 1781-83, who with wife, Esther, was living in Cecil Co., Md., in 1740. His wife, Dorcas, 1763-1833, was dau. of Squire Amos Alexander, 1729-80, of Elkton, Cecil Co., whose wife, Sarah, 1723-1802, was dau. of Thomas and Isabel Sharp of Cecil Co., 1718. Amos Alexander's father, James Alexander, 1690-1779, whose wife was Margaret McKnitt, was son of Joseph Alexander of New Munster, Cecil Co., 1712, who may have descended from William Alexander of Somerset Co., 1675. Henry McCoy's mother became the wife of Isaac Logue of Cecil Co., and d. before Sept. 14, 1792.

IV

Capt. Abner Fitch, 1703-98, was son of Capt. Jeremiah and Ruth (Gifford) Fitch of Coventry, Conn., whose parents were Rev. James and Priscilla (Mason) Fitch of Norwich, Conn., and Stephen and Hannah (Gallup) Gifford of —; while his wife, Ruth Rose, was dau., of Daniel and Mary (Foote) Rose of Coventry, whose parents were Daniel and Elizabeth (Goodrich) Rose of Wethersfield, Conn., and Nathaniel and Margaret (Bliss) Foote of Wethersfield. Rev. James Fitch, 1622-1702, was son of Thomas and Ann (Reve) Fitch of Bocking, Essex, Eng., and grandson of Thomas Fitch (10), b. Brazen Head, Lyndersill, Essex, in 1562, whose wife was Mary, dau. of Sir John Mauch of Supford, Hertford. His father, Thomas Fitch (9), b. B. H., 1522, was descended from Thomas (8), b. B. beth Edwards, was dau. of Thomas Edwards, 1621-83, of Wethersfield and granddau. of John Edwards, d. 1664, of Wethersfield. Nathaniel Foote, 1647-1703, Q. M. in King Philip's War, was son of Nathaniel Foote (2), 1620-55, of Wethersfield, whose wife was Elizabeth, dau. of Lieut. Samuel Smith, 1602-80, of Wethersfield, Deputy, 1640-73, Commissioner to the Mohawks, 1667. Nathaniel Foote (1), 1593-1644, of Wethersfield, 1633, whose wife was Elizabeth, b. 1595, dau. of John Deming of England, was Deputy, Conn., 1641-44. Margaret Bliss, 1649-1745, was dau. of Nathaniel and Catherine (Chapin) Bliss of Springfield, Mass., whose parents were Thomas and Margaret Bliss of Hartford, 1639, and Dea. Samuel and Cicely Chapin of Boston, 1641. Thomas Bliss was son of John Bliss, d. 1617, of Preston, Perva, near Northampton, Eng.

V

Capt. Ebenezer Root, 1732-58, Chief Justice of Conn., was son of Ebenezer and Sarah (Strong) Root of Coventry, Conn., whose parents were Dea. Thomas and Thankful (Strong) Root of Coventry, and Joseph and Sarah (Allen) Strong of —; while his wife, Phebe Hawkins, 1734-1802, was dau. of George and Hepzibah (Janes) Hawkins of Coventry, whose parents were George and Susannah Hawkins of Preston, Conn., and Benjamin and Hannah (Hinsdale) Janes of Pascomas, near Northampton. Dea. Thomas Root, 1667-1756, was son of Thomas Root (3), b. 1644, of Northampton, whose wife Abigail, b. 1647, was the dau. of Alexander and Mary (Voar) Alvord of Windsor, Conn., and the granddau. of Richard and Ann Voar of Dorchester, 1635. Alexander Alvord, d. 1687, was son of Thomas (3) of Whitestaunton, Eng., son of Alexander (2), son of John (1), of Whitestaunton, 1530. Thomas Roote (2), 1605-94, of Hartford, 1637, father of the above, was son of John and Ann (Russell) Roote of Badby, Northamptonshire, Eng. Thankful Strong, 1672-1742, was dau. of Jedediah and Freedom (Woodward) Strong of Northampton, whose parents were Elder John and Abigail (Ford) Strong of Dorchester, 1630, and Henry and Elizabeth Woodward of Dorchester, 1639. Elder John Strong, 1605-99, was son of Richard Strong, 1561-1613, of Taunton, Somersetshire, Eng.; while his wife, Abigail, 1618-88, was dau. of Thomas Ford of Windsor, Representative, 1638-41. Henry Woodward, 1607-85, was son of Thomas and Eliza (Tyxen) Woodward of Much-Woolton, near London, Eng. Joseph Strong, 1672-1763, whose mother was Rachel, dau. of Sergt. William Holton, 1611-91, of Hartford and Northampton, Deputy, Commissioner, member of the first court, etc., etc., was son of Thomas Strong, 1630-89, of Northampton, brother of Jedediah, above; while his wife Sarah Allen, 1672-1723, was dau. of Nehemiah and Sarah (Woodford) Allen of min and Anne (Giles) Clarke of Somerset Co., N. J. William Cooper (2), b. 1660, of "Pyne Point, N. J.," whose wife was Mary, dau. of Edward Bradway, was son of William Cooper (1), 1632-1710, who, with wife Margaret, emigrated in 1682 to Burlington Co., N. J., from Cole's Hill, Hereford County, Eng. Anne Giles, b. 1669, was the dau. of James and Elizabeth Giles, of Bound Brook, N. J., and the granddaughter of Thomas Giles of Salem, Mass., b. Kent, Eng., abt. 1609.

XIV

Abigail Lawrence's grandfather, Major William Lawrence (6), of Flushing, L. I., whose wife was Deborah, dau. of Major Richard Smith, the wealthy patentee of Smithtown, L. I., was Justice for Orange Co., N. J., and a member of Gov. Leister's Council. His father, Capt. William Lawrence (5), 1622-80, came to Am. in 1635, and was an original incorporator and largest landed proprietor of Flushing, of which he was Deputy Sheriff and Presiding Magistrate in Council in 1656. His widow married the Hon. Philip Carteret, Gov. of New Jersey. His father, Thomas Lawrence (4), b. 1588-89, who was Chief Burgess of St. Albans, Hertfordshire, Eng., and had for wife Joan, dau. of Walter and Joan (Arnold) Antrobus of St. Albans, was descended from John Lawrence (3), b. 1561-62, whose wife was Margaret Robets; William Lawrence (2), whose wife was Catherine Beamont; and William Lawrence (1), of St. Ives, Huntingdonshire, whose wife was Margaret Kaye. Her father, Edward Kaye of Woodsome, Yorkshire, was the great-grandson of Sir Nyan de Markenfield, who was descended from Charlemagne and many other early kings, dating back to 439 B. C.

XV

Abigail Lawrence's maternal grandfather was Col. Thomas Hicks (9), d. 1713, of Little Neck, L. I., for many years Judge of the County Court, whose wife, Deborah Whitehead, b. 1675, was the dau. of Major Daniel Whitehead, 1646-1704, patentee of Jamaica, L. I., Magistrate, Ranger-General and Representative in the Colonial Assembly. He was son of Daniel Whitehead, 1603-68, a patentee, overseer and Magistrate of Newtown, L. I., and had for wife, Abigail, dau. of Thomas Stephenson, a resident of Hempstead, L. I., 1647. Capt. Thomas Hicks (8), 1640-1741, of Flushing, L. I., whose first wife, Mary, dau. of Richard Butler of Stratford, Conn., was mother of the above, was son of John Hicks (7), d. 1672, by his wife Herodias Long. He was a Magistrate and member of the Assembly at New Amsterdam in 1633, a patentee of Flushing in 1645, and a Deputy and member of the celebrated Hempstead Convention in 1665. His father, Robert Hicks (6), d. 1647, whose first wife, Elizabeth, dau. of John Morgan, was the mother of John, came from

APPENDIX.

Southwark, County Surrey, Eng., in 1621, and settled at Duxbury, Mass. His English descent is: James Hicks (5), Baptist Hicks (4), b. 1526, John Hicks (3), Thomas Hicks (2), b. abt. 1470, and John Hicks (1), d. 1492, of Tartworth—a descendant of Sir Ellis Hicks who was knighted by Edward, the Black Prince, on the battlefield of Poitiers, Sept. 9, 1356.

XVI

James Bellangee, b. 1703, was son of Ives Bellangee, who came from England before 1690 and lived at Phila., Pa., until he mar. in 1697, Christiana Delaplaine, dau. of James and Hannah Delaplaine of Germantown, Pa., when he removed to Egg Harbor. He was son of Theophilus de Bellanger, who was shot during the dragonnades of Louis XIV and whose wife and children fled to the caves and forests of their native province where they were concealed until they had an opportunity to escape to England, most likely Dover, as in 1687 one of his sons, Theophilus, arrived there out of France. The name of John De la Plaine is also found among the records, as living as a refugee at Dover, and it is likely he was either the father or brother of Christiana and that he came to Am. with the Bellangee family.
